

How to deal with a difficult students

Discussion

How are you doing today?

I am happy. I went outside and had a photo session of my daughter.

What was the occasion?

It was not a special occasion.

Connie, ask your SA, to change your name. Everything you have a class with me, I see some Chinese characters, I can't read them.

How was the weather today?

It was raining cats and dogs.

My clothes were wet.

What the temperature today?

It's seems to be around 20 degrees.

Sometimes I need to deal with difficult colleagues.

How are your colleagues difficult?

She is not very positive. Why is that a problem?

She doesn't like to solve problems by herself. She always asks others for help.

She is too dependant on other people.

How did you try to deal with this?

Sometimes I will tell her to try to find an answer by herself.

That doesn't work for her?

She forgot and asked me again.

Do you think she can get better?

I don't think so, the root reason is her mind.

Mind cannot be change, with raining?

It's very hard.

Were you a difficult student?

No, I wasn't.

How did your teachers deal with difficult students?

Some teachers ignored difficult students.

What did other teachers do?

Other teachers would pay attention to those difficult student.

They would remind difficult students to quit bad behavior.

How would you deal with difficult students?

I would analyze the feelings and status and tried to help them.

What was this conversation about?

This conversation was about dealing with difficult student.

What kind of problems does the particular student make?

He is being disruptive, distracting the other students and misbehaving.

What they conclude, how to deal with this student?

Firstly, they will separate the particular student in front of the classroom. He should be separated from his friends. Secondly, the teacher should pay more attention, to find a reason why he misbehaves.

Is that fair, to other students?

It's a little bit unfair.

In western countries, we have a counselor in schools.

A teacher doesn't have knowledge and ability that a trained psychologist has.

I heard that in China, people are embarrassed to talk with a psychologist. Sometimes just talking can help you.

Express yourself in sentences.
