

Things and places we see when we travel

In this lesson, the topic was 'Things and places we see when we travel'. I learned many new words and their ~~different~~ meanings and uses, and ~~followed~~—discussed with teacher Marko ~~to discuss that~~ the things and places we see when we travel~~ing~~, and visit~~ing~~ famous attractions and spend~~ing~~ time in nature, ~~which one do you prefer.~~

Landscape(noun): used to describe the natural characteristic of an area(coastal, mountainous, etc). I bought a new house because there is very good natural landscape around the neighborhood.

Scenery(noun): less specific, used to describe anything that can be seen(urban, rural, etc.). There ~~are many~~ ~~sceneries spots in~~ is a beautiful scenery in Changsha city. It's worth to visit.

Picturesque(adjective): beautiful, unique. There is a ~~lot~~ ~~of different~~ picturesque scenery in China.

Sightseeing(noun): an activity in which a person, usually a tourist, goes to see interesting places, monuments, statues, etc. People usually have a chance to ~~do~~ go sightseeing after a long time of hard work.

Dwelling(noun): a place where a person or people live.

Nowadays, young couples usually have two or three dwellings.

Shelter(noun): a place where a person can hide from something bad(weather, wild animals, any kind of danger, etc). Food, clothing, and shelter are three basic needs for human beings.

Worship(verb,noun) to love and respect something very much. Most of western people worship the god.

Reverence(noun,verb): deep respect of something or someone. He expressed his reverence for his teacher.

Notable(adjective): can be noted and seen. His opinion is notable.

Asymptomatic(adjective): not showing any symptoms, signs. Antonym: symptomatic. There are many asymptomatic cases and some symptomatic cases in Shaoyang city, so the city is locking down now.

Quarantine(noun,verb): to stay lock~~ed~~ down in a small place so you prevent the spreading of an infectious disease. I have to quarantine because I went to my hometown last week that there ~~are~~ ~~were~~ two cases.

Work(uncountable noun): I have a lot of work to do.

Abyss(noun): hole without end. Decorating a house is like an abyss.

Traveling and reading are two ways that can give you knowledge. We should travel and read as much as we can. Wisdom comes from experience and from knowing the limits of knowledge. I like to visit tourist attractions and enjoy the natural scenery too. ~~There~~ Those are different experiences for me. After visiting tourist attractions I will understand the culture and history. I really enjoy to spend time in nature. Green hills and clear waters ~~let~~ make me happy and relaxed.

That's all. Thank you for your correcting. Dear Marko!

Remember scenery is uncountable noun, you shouldn't use it's plural form "sceneries" because it doesn't exist.

Corrected by Marko Nikovic