

Should I Trade Stocks?

Discussion

How are you doing today?

I am a little busy.

What did you do?

I did much work today.

Can you be more specific?

The most of the today's work was related to communication.

Have you been successful?

I am a conservative investor. I buy stocks that bring dividends, most of them are dividend aristocrats.

What was this conversation about?

Mary was very happy because she traded stocks and made a large profit. Leo told Mary that she should sell her stocks as soon as possible. Mary asked Leo if he has the same experience. He had same experience before.

What is she going to do with her profit?

She said that she is going to reinvest her profit in IT company.

How about investing in real estate(apartment, commercial buildings, houses, etc.)?

How about investing in commodities?

How about funds? What do you think about them?

I invested in some funds when I was a university student.

Vocabulary

Useful words

1. stock(noun): a share(noun) :a part of a company.
2. trade(verb)
3. dividend(noun)
4. window(noun)
5. opportunity(noun)
6. chance(verb)
7. short(verb)
8. fraud(noun)
9. window of opportunity(expression):time while something can be done, the time in which the opportunity can be used. e.g.You have a window of opportunity in next two hours to buy this stock before the market closes. This window of opportunity is not going to last very long.

Grammar

Modal verb

When you use modal verbs, please use the main verb in its base form.

I can to swim.(inccorect)

I can swim.

She should invest.

Countable and uncountable nouns

When you use countable noun(nouns that you can number) you should use “many”.

many teachers

many glasses

many chairs

When you use uncountable nouns(nouns that you cannot number) you should use “much”.

much work

much money

much time